

Fairtrade

Year 8 have been looking at why some countries are poor. We looked at chocolate. The farmers in Africa work hard growing the cocoa beans but get paid only little, then it is shipped to England where factories and shops make lots of money. This is not fair because the farmers in Africa work so hard.

Year 8 wanted to tell people about this and made t-shirts so everyone knows that when they buy chocolate they should buy 'Fairtrade' chocolate. This pays a fair price to the farmers and means they can build schools for their children and have clean water to drink on their farms.

Peas

On Monday Tim and Mortimer picked some fresh peas that 9C have grown in the garden. On Tuesday they cooked the peas in their Food Technology lesson. Mrs Trabucchi said "Well done 9C, they were the best peas I have ever tasted."

Recycling

Shopna has been collecting used batteries at home from her family's hearing aids and cochlear implants, and she has brought in a box full of them to recycle. Mr Browning wants everyone to remember to collect their batteries at home – any batteries, not just from their hearing aids – and they can bring them in for recycling or take them to special recycling boxes in supermarkets or chemists. Well done Shopna.
