Victory Sponge

This week Mrs Sheppard made a cake called Victory Sponge. In the war there was a shortage of sugar and so to make cakes sweet, people would use carrot and potatoes in their baking. Both Ali and Louis agreed that cakes with potatoes and carrots were not as nice as those with sugar so they did not want a second slice!

Gardening

Tim weeded, then planted onion, garlic, rhubarb bulbs, and tulip bulbs at number one. He picked three onions we had growing, and herbs, and helped make an onion and rosemary omelette.
